

One Touch Support system simplifies ordering supplies

Navy and Marine Corps personnel are finding it much easier to search for critical supplies and repair parts, or check the status of requisitions, thanks to an online web-based system developed by the Naval Supply Systems Command.

Called One Touch Support, the site requires only one password (a digital certificate) that can be applied for at the site. With this password Sailors afloat or ashore can order new parts, identify where supplies and repair parts are located, or gather information on the status of outstanding requisitions. To use the site, access to the Internet and a Netscape 4.5 or higher browser is required.

The web site (www.navsup.navy.mil/onetouch) connects users to several supply databases through a single point. Before One Touch, users would have to search many separate databases, each requiring its own ID and password, often using separate computer terminals to access information now available through One Touch.

When ordering new items the system automatically routes the requisition to its appropriate database saving time and resources. The entry screen provides an easy to use format that accesses several computer systems in a seamless manner that is invisible to the user.

To obtain the digital certificate, users must select the digital certificate request button on the One Touch web site. Fill out the form and submit it. The user will be contacted and receive an e-mail with the URL site containing the users digital certificate.

Future plans for the site include the addition of new data sources for stock requisition information, incorporation of other supply chain functions such as procurement and financial features.

The global One Touch web site was developed by the Fleet Material Support Office (FMSO) and Oracle, the contractor.

In addition, a regional One Touch web site was developed by the Fleet and Industrial Supply Center (FISC), Pearl Harbor and replicated at each of the other FISCs by the Standard Automated Logistics Tool Set Project (SALTS) Office, Philadelphia.

The regional sites were deployed to provide customers with the capability to access region-specific databases such as local household goods and HAZMAT. These regional sites will be integrated with Global One Touch and come under PKI secured access during this calendar year.

There is extensive online help available at the One Touch Support site. On-site training is also available at certain locations or for large groups. More information on the training or other general information about One Touch Support is available from the Customer Information Center at 1-877-41TOUCH or the program manager Tom Wekluk at Ext. 6791.

Women's History Month highlights the exceptional

March 2000 marks the 13th annual observance of Women's History Month, a time when we can all increase our knowledge of and celebrate the contributions women have made to the Navy and the nation, a recent message from the Chief of Naval Operations states.

This year's theme is "An Exceptional Century for Women ... Now Imagine the Future."

The message continues, "It has indeed been an exceptional century for Navy women. Women became an integral part of the Navy with the establishment of the Nurse Corps in 1908. Since that time, women have continued to have a positive and ever increasing impact on the Navy.

"In World War I, some 12,000 women answered the call to active duty and gave unprecedented service. Those women paved the way for more than 81,000 WAVES to serve proudly in World War II and 9,000 women followed in their wake to serve during the Korean War.

"Today, more than 50,000 Navy women serve throughout the world, ashore and afloat, officer and enlisted, continuing the fine tradition of extraordinary service.

"From the first Navy nurse to women who now serve on ships at sea, the accomplishments of all these patriots have, without doubt, made this an exceptional century for women in the Navy. The future holds unlimited opportunity as women continue to meet the challenges of service to their country."

For more information pertaining to Women's History Month, contact the Office of the Special Assistant for Women's Policy (PERS-OOW) at (703) 695-9232/DSN 225; or contact the National Women's History Project, 7738 Bell Road, Windsor, CA 95492, (707) 838-6000, or visit its web site at www.nwhp.org.

WINSALTS release 4.14 hits street

The Naval Supply Systems Command has recently released WINSALTS Version 4.14 (Standard Automated Logistics Toolset, Windows version) to the fleet.

WINSALTS 4.14 includes a major revision to the Internet connection capabilities, including a selective download feature and a resume feature that resumes file transfers where they were cut off in a transmission failure.

There is a new screen design with easier to understand error messages. An extension in the time-out clock when it takes a long time to connect via phone/modem is another added feature.

Additions to the USMC Payroll file filter will allow for the new file types produced by the next generation of the USMC Pay software. The Y2K news button has been revised to a "SALTS News" button designed to provide the latest news on WINSALTS.

Version 4.14 will significantly enhance the SALTS overall performance with faster connection times and reduced errors, problems that have frustrated customers who must dial in from remote locations.

Naval Inventory Control Point's SALTS mission is to provide the Department of Defense with a means of moving logistical and administrative data from a single point of entry to a wide host of databases and data services worldwide.

Information on SALTS can be found on the SALTS home page at www.salts.navy.mil.

Team meets to develop corporate business plan

Members of the Naval Supply Systems Command senior leadership team met Feb. 15-17 in Camp Hill to begin developing a two-year corporate business plan.

The purpose of the business plan is to focus attention, efforts and resources on the things that must be done over the next two years in order for NAVSUP to achieve its long-term strategic vision of One-Touch Supply.

The business plan, along with the strategic plan and individual activity action plans, is a key component of NAVSUP's corporate planning process.

The team was composed of headquarters Deputy Commanders and Assistant Deputy Commanders and field activity Commanding Officers and their Technical or Executive Directors.

During the three-day session, the group worked to set corporate objectives for Fiscal Years (FY) 2001 and 2002.

The objectives, written to be specific, measurable, achievable, reliable, and time-bounded, serve as a bridge between NAVSUP's broad, long-term strategic goals and specific, short-term action plans.

The objectives provide the framework for the Corporate Business Plan.

At the meeting, a goal champion for each of the four goals in the NAVSUP Strategic Plan was named.

All Senior Executive Service members, the champions are Mike Madden of NAVSUP Headquarters for the Customer Goal, Sandy Leggieri of Naval Inventory Control Point for the Value Goal, Kevin Fitzpatrick of NAVSUP Headquarters for the Process Goal, and Ruth Sanders of Fleet Material Support Office for the People Goal. In addition, Diane Townsend, NAVSUP Counsel, has been named champion for the Corporate Communications Strategy.

By the conclusion of the meeting, the group had identified 64 draft objectives.

As a next step, the goal champions will refine the objectives that support their goals and assign objective owners. The business plan will be fleshed out over the next several months as objective owners develop an action plan for each objective, determining performance measures and working with Deputy Commanders and Commanding Officers to identify the projects and other actions that must be completed to accomplish the objectives.

A Business Planning Conference is scheduled for July to review and approve the completed corporate business plan. Implementation of the FY 2001/2002 Business Plan will begin Oct. 1, 2000.

A Superior Civilian Service Award was presented recently to Leslie L. Lauderdale, the Deputy Assistant Commander, Logistics Information and Innovation, Naval Supply Systems Command.

She was recognized for outstanding support provided to the Defense Logistics Agency during the Focused Logistics Wargame.

At the same Feb. 28 ceremony, Lauderdale also received the Meritorious Civilian Service Award from RADM Keith W. Lippert, the Commander of NAVSUP.

She and Katrina Gaffney of the Logistics Support Division, were each recognized with the Meritorious Civilian Service Award for their outstanding efforts with the implementation of the Distribution Standard System (DSS) at the Navy's Fleet and Industrial Supply Centers (FISCs).

Additionally, certificates of recognition were presented to four employees for their efforts on the DSS Team.

Change your allotments, federal income tax withholding, etc., through new Employee/Member Self-Service tool from DFAS

The Defense Finance and Accounting Service (DFAS) has recently completed development of Employee/Member Self-Service (E/MSS).

E/MSS is a self-service tool that will allow personnel to make routine changes to their official pay account using either an interactive voice response telephone system or the Internet. Personnel will be able to change their federal income tax withholding; start, stop, or change allotments; change their correspondence/home address; and update information for their financial institution electronic funds transfer.

More information and frequently asked questions about E/MSS are available on the DFAS web site at www.dfas mil/emss.

Current implementation plans are for E/MSS to be made available during the month of March 2000 to Department of Navy civilians paid through the Defense Civilian Pay System, Active/Reserve Marines and Marine Corps Total Force System, retirees, and annuitants.

Availability of E/MSS for Navy service members is scheduled for July 2000.

E/MSS is voluntary. Personnel may enter the changes outlined above using E/MSS or may continue to submit hardcopy forms to their customer service representatives or military pay office to effect the necessary changes.

E/MSS transactions submitted through the Internet will be encrypted using 128-bit encryption and secure socket layer technology. This will prevent personal information from being read by others while being transmitted from the user's personal computer to the E/MSS web site. As a further security measure, the E/MSS system will not provide immediate printable confirmation that the requested changes have been made. However, personnel may verify requested changes by re-accessing E/MSS. Changes will also be annotated on the users' subsequent leave and earning statement (LES), which personnel should review to ensure requested changes have been made. The LES will serve as the official pay record.

On March 10, DFAS began distributing notification of E/MSS to DON civilian employees via U.S. Mail. This notification provides information about E/MSS and a temporary personnel identification number (PIN). Personnel can customize their PIN the first time they use the system.

Distribution of E/MSS notification and PIN letters to active/Reserve Marines is scheduled to begin on March 20.

RADM Baugh briefed

RADM Dale E. Baugh, Deputy Commander for Logistics Maintenance and Industrial Operations, Naval Sea Systems Command (NAVSEA), recently visited the Naval Sea Logistics Center (NAVSEALOGCEN), a field activity of NAVSEA.

In that capacity, NAVSEALOGCEN specializes in providing integrated logistics, engineering, and information technology expertise to meet the needs of a worldwide customer base.

During the visit, NAVSEALOGCEN had the opportunity to showcase a few of the key initiatives underway in Mechanicsburg, such as its web-based metrics site, total ownership cost tool, and distance support/Integrated Call Center efforts.

The Mechanicsburg command's roots here date back

35 years, and this month marks the anniversary of the center's establishment 1987.

Locally, NAVSEALOGCEN employs approximately 300 personnel. As a command, however, NAVSEALOGCEN stretches from coast-to-coast with a combination of over 1,000 government employees and private sector partners located at four primary sites and eight smaller on-site offices.

With a highly experienced and educated corporate work force, NAVSEALOGCEN has been the recipient of several awards, including Vice President Gore's Hammer Award, the NAVSEA Logistics Team of the Year Award, and the prestigious Admiral Stan Arthur Logistics Team of the Year Award.

Mandatory travel card date extended

By Jim Garamone, American Forces Press Service

WASHINGTON (Navy Wire Service) — Service members and Department of Defense (DoD) civilians now have until May 1 before use of the government travel credit card is mandatory, DoD officials said earlier this month.

DoD is one of a number of agencies given two extra months to implement the program, said Nelson Toye, DoD's deputy chief financial officer.

William J. Lynn, undersecretary of defense (comptroller), signed the memorandum announcing the extension March 1.

"Within DoD, the primary reason for the delay is that we were so late receiving the guidance," Toye said. "Our components came back to us and asked for an extension. When we applied to the General Services Administration [GSA], they were willing to grant us the extension."

Toye said that GSA officials made it clear there "would be no more extensions."

Toye's guidance in the meantime to DoD finance officials is to implement the travel card program to the extent possible. He said the extension does not mean Congress is rethinking the policy. It has just taken longer than expected for government agencies to work out the details.

DoD issued new policies in mid-February to implement travel card requirements in an amendment to the Federal Travel Regulation published by the GSA in the Jan. 19 Federal Register. The amendment implements requirements in the Travel and Transportation Reform Act of 1998.

The DoD began using travel cards in 1983 to pay for lodging, transportation, rental cars, and other allowable expenses. The current contractor is Bank of America VISA.

For more information on DoD's travel card program, visit the Defense Finance and Accounting Service web site at www.dfas.mil or the Bank of America site at www.bankofamerica.com/government.

Census Bureau Director familiarizes people with Census questionnaire

Census Bureau Director Kenneth Prewitt last week urged U.S. households to be on the lookout for their Census 2000 questionnaire, scheduled to arrive in the mail starting this week.

The questionnaire comes in an envelope with the "United States Census 2000" logo on it and a Bureau of the Census return address, the director said. It also bears this message: "U.S. Census Form Enclosed. Your Response Is Required By Law."

"We've designed a distinctive-looking package," said Prewitt, "so everyone will know that this, and only this, is the official census form with a bar code for their household. We want it to stand out from the stacks of other mail because it could, in fact, be the most important piece of mail delivered in the weeks ahead.

"The census is as important to our nation as highways and telephone lines. It's how America knows what America needs. It will provide the data that will help target more than $2 trillion in federal funds during the next decade for schools, employment services, housing assistance, hospital services, programs for the elderly and much more."

Another 22 million forms are being hand-delivered by Census Bureau enumerators to housing units that do not use street names and house numbers for mail delivery. This operation, conducted mostly in rural areas, began March 3.

"Fill it out and mail it back on or before April 1, Census Day," Prewitt said.

The Census Bureau guarantees that the answers given on census forms are kept strictly confidential.

Navy – Marine Corps Relief Drive coming

Add your legacy to the Navy Log

By the Navy Memorial Foundation

WASHINGTON (Navy Wire Service) — The U.S. Navy Memorial Foundation in Washington, D.C., is encouraging all naval service personnel including Navy, Coast Guard, Marines and Merchant Marine, active service or veterans, to get themselves enrolled in the Navy Log located in Washington, D.C.

The Navy Log is a publicly accessible database that contains the entrant's name, date and place of birth, dates and branch of naval service, highest rate or rank attained, up to five top medals and awards, and five duty stations. An individual's portrait photograph can also be submitted for inclusion.

The accumulated enrollments form a part of America's naval heritage and includes a permanent video register available for viewing at the Naval Heritage Center, next to the Navy Memorial in Washington, D.C. The information is also available on the Internet at www.lonesailor.org.

To date, the log has collected the names and service information of 245,000 present and former naval personnel.

Most of the names are of living persons self enrolled or by gift tributes from friends or families. A large number of deceased veterans are also enrolled in the log by their descendants or by surviving shipmates.

Log enrollments help support the memorial's values-based educational programs that honor, preserve and celebrate America's naval heritage.

Qualified individuals desiring to enroll should send name, date and place of birth, dates of naval service, highest rate or rank, up to five awards received and five duty stations served, accompanied by a $25 tax-deductible enrollment donation to: Navy Log Dept Y2000, P.O. Box 96570, Washington, D.C., 20077-7685.

A head and shoulders portrait photo may be added for an additional $25 (photos cannot be returned).

The Navy Memorial Foundation is a nonprofit, tax-exempt organization that receives no government support for building and operating the Navy Memorial and the adjoining Naval Heritage Center.

Scholarships offered to disabled persons

The President's Committee on Employment of People with Disabilities announces three scholarship competitions open to post-secondary students with disabilities for the 2000-2001 academic year.

Two competitions are open to candidates with disabilities seeking financial assistance for undergraduate study at a four-year college or university.

NIKE, Inc., will sponsor one $2,500 scholarship for an individual majoring in sports or recreation management, sports marketing, sports medicine, or sports/recreation retail.

Nordstrom, Inc will sponsor five $2,000 scholarships for individuals majoring in business.

The application deadline for both competitions is May 11.

The third competition is open to female candidates with disabilities seeking financial assistance for graduate study. The ELA Foundation will sponsor one or two $2,000 scholarships for individuals who seek to change the face of disability in their life work. The application deadline is May 25.

To be eligible for these scholarships, applicants must be United States citizens. Awards are contingent upon acceptance to, or continuation in, accredited colleges and universities in the United States.

More information and application materials may be downloaded from the Internet at two sites. Visit the President's Committee web site at www.pcepd.gov and click the "scholarships" link on the home page. Or, visit Fast Web at www.fastweb.com, establish a student profile, and follow the prompts.
